Independent Financial Group's 2016 National Conference a Resounding Success

SAN DIEGO, CA – Independent Financial Group's National Conference, the firm's largest event, concluded its 12th annual meeting at the Omni La Costa Resort in Carlsbad, California. The conference featured over 80 product and service providers and breakout sessions. The meeting focuses on what's new and changing in the financial services industry so that advisors can keep current and informed in the areas of financial planning, practice management, insurance, variable annuities, mutual funds, retirement plans. Among the keynote speakers featured this year were: Paul Begala, S.E. Cupp, Daymond John, and industry icon, Nick Murray.

"As a sponsor of many of these events throughout the year, the IFG National Conference stands out as one of the best conferences I attend," comments Salvatore Capizzi, Executive Vice President at Dunham & Associates and multi-year attendee. He continues, "It has a keen family feel to it, IFG and its staff agonize over every little detail for their financial advisors, and it is a conference rich in content. He adds, "I applaud the work that David Fischer and his remarkable team consistently put together year after year."

"What started as a small meeting is now an iconic event," states David Fischer, Owner and Managing Director of the firm. He continues, "Sure, the content drives our successful attendance year after year, but it's the show quality and production value that we offer - that nobody can compete with. He adds, "Most broker-dealers continue doing the same lecture presentations and boring tradeshow. We find that changing the typical meeting environment and delivery invigorates your attendees and drives the ROI that both our sponsors and attendees are looking for – tangible results and takeaways." He concludes, "Just you wait. We're looking forward to an even bigger and better event in 2017 at the Hotel del Coronado."
